What Characters Teach Us About Character

BY ALBERT PARISI, BETA ETA

Character is that which defines us; it's what people will remember about us long after we're gone. The TV News, Radio Talk Shows, News-Magazines and the daily paper are replete with stories about characters. (My favorite short story/play of all time was written by the great Italian poet Luigi Pirandello— "Sei Caratteri in Cerca di un Autore" or "Six Characters in Search of an Author.") These characters come in all sizes, hail from different parts of the country and can be found in many institutions. You may have known them as once successful businessmen, politicians, doctors, and lawyers or so called sports heroes. Temporary success is their common bond, as is total disregard for ethics or for other people.

These characters would have you believe that character doesn't matter. You've heard the expression: "If it feels good, just do it." This is the character's mantra. This statement would make sense if we add on the Jeffersonian clause "provided it doesn't interfere with the freedom or rights of others." Whenever one takes action which infringes on the freedom or rights of others, it is necessarily wrong. So why is it then that so many characters deny the obvious? Power, blind ambition and/or money is the answer. Shakespeare made a career writing about characters who rose to lofty positions or aspired to, taking whatever means necessary to achieve their nefarious ends. In each case however, they fall faster than they rose and bring shame and ridicule to their families or worse. Shakespeare's characters might be regarded as role models for today's characters. Once one loses the trust of others it is very difficult to regain that trust and he or she becomes ostracized. Aside from serious jail time most industries have strict prohibitions preventing the criminal from even attempting a comeback. Think about some of these fellows. When their names are tossed about, are their achievements the first thing that comes to your mind or is their infamy?

Being a man of good character sometimes means not doing what you would like to do or doing whatever feels good but rather it requires you "do the right thing." The right thing is often difficult and sometimes separates you from your friends. Being an individual of good character distinguishes you, however; it tells the world you are strong and courageous and not shy about rising above the crowd. A man of good character doesn't shirk responsibility. He leads by example and is admired and respected by others. A man of good character can look himself in the mirror morning and night and be proud. Choose to distinguish yourself from the crowd for as Paul Newman, actor and humanitarian, said: "If you don't have enemies, you don't have character."

National Council 2005

Sottosanti Elected National President

The annual Alpha Phi Delta National Council was held on April 2nd in Philadelphia. The council meeting was one of the largest this writer has witnessed—an estimate of over 150 brothers were in attendance led by a large contingent of undergraduates in the Philadelphia area including a new chartering at nearby LaSalle University and a reactivation at nearby Wesley College in Dover (see photos and captions below).

In addition to those two groups, a new charter was given to the Colorado Alumni Club and the national body welcomed back Beta Iota Chapter from Utica College, Utica, N.Y.—one of our oldest entities which had been inactive for a few years.

The meetings were dominated by legislative issues (many were discussed but few passed), budgetary concerns (rising insurance and containing undergraduate fees) and the annual national election.

Current National President Manny Rodriquez was only elected last year for his first term, and it is customary for our national presidents to serve two terms. Unfortunately Brother Rodriguez was called to serve our country with the National Guard and is stationed in Iraq for up to 18 months. In his absence, National Vice President Evan Sottosanti stepped up and was elected as

National President for the coming year. There was a contested race for the open vice president position which brought forth much discussion and questions among the body. Roger Mussa, Gamma Pi 1996, a newcomer to national politics, was seeking the spot as was District Governor Abdul Gaibi, Delta Epsilon 1995. When the votes were tallied, Gaibi was elected as National Vice President.

Two other elective positions were also filled. Joe Watkins from St. Peter's College, was elected as Vice President of Undergraduate Affairs. Danny Thomas, Jr. of the Youngstown Alumni Club was elected to the new position of Vice President of Alumni Affairs. Actually this position has existed for years as an appointment by the National President, but new legislation made it elective by the alumni entities of the fraternity.

On the negative side, the fraternity had to close two chapters. Delta Omega, University of Northern Colorado, a relatively new chapter, was closed due to being disbanded by its members. Beta Xi from New Jersey Institute of Technology, one of our oldest chapters, was closed due to the fact that there were no undergraduate members left on campus.

WRITTEN BY KLEOS EDITOR JOHN RUSSO

Delta Delta Chapter at Wesley College in Dover, Del. was reactivated on April 2nd with 27 brothers. Wesley is Delaware's oldest college and has 1200 undergraduates at the school. This chapter was deactivated in 1996 and has been rebuilding since 2002 with six pledge classes

LaSalle University was chartered as our Epsilon Beta Chapter. The chapter has been a colony since 2002 and has 27 brothers. It has had five pledge classes and is very involved in charitable causes—Habitat for Humanity, Animal Shelter, Red Cross blood drives. It is the first Epsilon series chapter in the fraternity.

Eastern Pennsylvania Conference

On Saturday, March 12th, Executive Secretary Felipe Martinez conducted a leadership conference at Delta Iota, King's College. The conference was initially supposed to be for the Eastern Pa. chapters but it featured a large contingent from N.Y.C. and N.J. who couldn't make their scheduled conferences. Many N.Y.C. chapters got to Wilkes-Barre, Pa. the Friday before the conference and made it truly a fraternal weekend. Discussions included: rushing, pledging and chapter resources. It was a beneficial time for all. We would like to thank the brothers of King's College for being such great hosts.

BOOK REVIEW

Background

After graduation in 1949, Tony remained at Duquesne University, School of Pharmacy, for two years as a full-time instructor. He returned home to Ohio, and became a member of the Steubenville Alumni Club under the leadership of Dr. Macedonia while working five years for Eli Lilly and Company. Tony matriculated at the University of Pittsburgh and earned a Master's Degree in Hospital Administration in 1958. This began a new career for Tony in Harrisburg, Pa., Berwick, Pa. and Mount Vernon, Ill. before taking a job in 1980 as President of the Hospital Council of the National Capital Area until his retirement in 1996.

On His Books

"In 1967, I learned that I could read Biblical scriptures and apply them to my individual living. I began to write from a personal application of symbolic interpretations of the very same words that were taken literally. Little did I realize that I would eventually consider all the major scriptures of the world. All of my books say the same thing; Let the Spirit of God that is coming to you in each moment from the Father come through you (the children). The result is that The Real Holy Grail is found within."

The Real Holy Grail

Anthony John Monaco, Psi 1946, a summa cum laude graduate of Duquesne University has completed his 15th book, The REAL Holy Grail, A Personal Journey in Cosmic Consciousness. The Author uses symbolic interpretations of Holy Scriptures from the major religions of the world, in addition to scientific and fictional literature, to lead the reader to the location of the Holy Grail within oneself which is the realized experience of the True Nature of Man: Man is an eternal Being within a temporary human form.

While most books describe the differences of the religions of the world as commonly practiced, The REAL Holy Grail points to the similarities contained within all literature that point the way to the common Source and the common goal: Let the Spirit from the Creator that is coming directly to all the inhabitants of the planet simultaneously come through you without distortion.

Highlights of the book include the symbolic interpretations from portions of the books of Genesis, Psalms, Proverbs, Major Prophets, Parables of the Master, Revelation, the Koran, Buddhism, Taoism, Hinduism, Sikhism, Baha'i, and Mormonism. The Complete Works of the author are known as the Stars of the Scriptures Series. The Stars of the Scriptures are Moses, David, Solomon, Isaiah, Jesus, John, Mohammed, Buddha, Lao Tzu, etc.

Previews of this book and others are available at www.TheRealHolyGrail.com

Foundation Seeks Members to Revamp Board

At the most recent National Council Meeting in Philadelphia, the Foundation Board met to discuss Board Membership, as at this time, the term of office for the current Board has reached its conclusion. The current bylaws call for the election of six members from the brotherhood along with the most recent past National President to constitute the Board. We will be taking nominations for Board Membership until July 4th. Eligibility is based on meeting the criteria of at least one of three areas:

- being a current paid member of Alpha Phi Delta Fraternity,
- being a paid Life Member of the Fraternity, or
- having made a $25 or more donation to the Foundation in the past three years.

If you would like to serve on the board or you would like to nominate a brother, please make your intentions known by contacting Paul R. Fabrizio, Chairman, Alpha Phi Delta Foundation, 1007 Harvard Road, Monroeville, PA 15146 or e-mail to paulfabrizio@msn.com.

Once nominations are closed, the election will be held at the Summer Convention in Hershey, Pa. For those not able to attend the convention, an on line ballot will be provided on the Foundation web page (www.apdscholarship.org).

Best Advice to Students

The twenty-first century is truly becoming a global economy which will redefine the skills of those people who populate corporations, academia, government and scientific institutions. The new millennium requires individuals regardless of their job description to have an understanding of economics, science, government and geopolitics. Additionally, communication skills both written and oral will be key success factors. Every student should listen carefully, learn, and value the opportunities offered by the Liberal Studies Core.

Francis Lunger became interested in a career in finance when he was an undergraduate at Gannon and Mr. Ernie Wright, alumni advisor for the Beta Rho chapter, proposed the idea to him. Since then, the list of his accomplishments has grown to be long and dignified. The places of employment on Lunger's resume might cause a few raised eyebrows in our post-Enron era, but only by those who don't know the details of his career. His long list of positions held include CEO, CFO, President, COO, and Chairman in industries that range from Finance to Telecommunications to Health Care Research—the cutting-edge industries of today's global economy. Lunger's inspiration, though, comes from ethics.

Lunger's role model, Bill Graham—founder and CEO of Baxter International for 20 years—was one of the most ethical, honest business leaders that he had encountered in his entire career. "He was a great team builder and team leader who always gave credit to the team and sought none for himself," Lunger said. He added that Bill "treated everyone equally regardless of their status in the organization, and he sought opinions that differed from his own.

He set high expectations for his people and held them accountable, and he was just in his dealings. He had a great business mind and was a great tutor to all the young professionals at Baxter (of whom more than forty ultimately became CEOs of public companies). He was a living example of the values of integrity, openness, and transparency." These values have carried over into Lunger's career without doubt.

Brother Lunger pledged at Beta Rho in 1964 and graduated in 1968. He began his career in Chicago in 1968 at Arthur Anderson & Co., where he stayed until 1976. Two years of his time there included 15 months with the military in Vietnam. After Arthur Anderson, he moved on to serve as a Corporate Controller, Vice President of International Finance and Administration, and Vice President of Home Health Care at Baxter International, a multi-billion dollar medical products company in Chicago. In 1983, Lunger joined Raychem Corporation in Menlo Park, California, as Vice President of Finance and ultimately became Vice President and General Group Manager. His next stop was Nashua Corporation, a New Hampshire-based conglomerate focused on office supplies, as part of a turn-around team in the role of Senior Vice President of Finance and Administration. He eventually became CEO and President, but moved on to join Oak Industries, a developer, manufacturer, and seller of telecommunications equipment in Waltham, Massachusetts, as Senior Vice President and CFO.

Lunger plans to retire from Millipore in 2005, at which time he can enjoy the company of his wife, Joey, of 31 years, and spend spare time in his favorite ways: golfing, running, reading, traveling and spending time with his friends and family.

1,000th Brother Initiated

Psi Chapter hit a milestone in the history of Alpha Phi Delta and the American fraternity system when it initiated its 1000th brother on March 11. Psi is the first chapter in APD to reach this significant event taking 76 years to achieve. Psi was founded at Duquesne University in 1929 and has been continuously active. The chapter has only had two semesters since World War II where it did not have a pledge class initiate at least one brother.

The chapter celebrated the event with a joint dinner with the Pittsburgh Alumni Club. Nine new men were inducted into the fraternity bringing the number of Psi brothers to 1008. The initiation and dinner had 32 brothers in attendance.

Brother Pete Lombard, Psi 1979, returned to the chapter and passed on some of his fraternity sportswear from the 1970s. The articles were given to Brother Lombard when he was initiated, and he wanted to pass on the tradition.

35th Annual Valentine Ball

On February 11th, Psi Chapter continued a long time campus tradition by hosting its 35th annual Valentine's Day Ball. This year's event was a rousing success both in attendance and in its goal as being a fundraising event for charity.

The chapter dedicated this year's ball to its long-time chapter advisor, Dr. Michael Cahill, who passed away in 2004 from ALS (commonly known as Lou Gehrig's Disease). Psi was able to raise $3,000 and presented a gift to representatives from ALS. It was the largest donation that the group has made at the ball which has recently come to be known as a charity event.

The Valentine's Ball was started at Duquesne in 1971, but it had grown out of its predecessor event which had been known as the May Ball. In 1969, Duquesne changed its semester calendar by having classes finish by May 1st. With no campus activity in May, the group had to change its signature event and came upon the idea of associating the ball with romance and Valentine's Day. Psi has been hosting the May Ball and Valentine Ball continuously each year since 1948.

The chapter has a great rapport with campus officials. The Vice President of Student Life hosted a cocktail party for the brothers, their parents, alumni and academic officials before the start of the ball. National Secretary Felipe Martinez was in attendance with over 200 others.

Matthew Garofolo, Gamma Pi 1998, is currently enrolled in graduate school to obtain his master's degree in elementary education. He is also employed at a local resort hotel in Atlantic Highland, N.J. He sent in a donation to support funding for The Kleos, for which we thank him.

Thomas Scaglione, Mu 1942, is living in Hornell, N.Y. He has two daughters, 6 grandchildren and one great-granddaughter.

Ronald Palmieri, Beta Phi 1980, is a partner in a CPA firm in Union, N.J. He is also a national auditor for Unilo National.

Santo Amabile, Epsilon 1956, is retired and living in Cape Coral, Florida with his wife Sharon.

Rocco Ballachino, Epsilon 1953, is a pharmacist in Hollywood, Fla.

Vincent J. Pantano, Epsilon 1955, is living in Grand Island, New York with his wife Rosary Ann. He retired as a lieutenant from the Buffalo, N.Y. Police.

Bill Kwolek, Beta Rho 1967, recently was married. He and his new wife Teri are living in Windsor, Conn.

Roy Richter, Beta Sigma 1985, is a Deputy Inspector in the NYPD in charge of the handgun license division. After graduation from St. Francis, he went on to Fordham Law School and received his JD in 1998. He was fortunate enough to take on the forfeiture unit in the NYPD after admission to the Bar and was the lead attorney in the NYPD's DWI forfeiture initiative. He has three daughters and married a woman he met in law school. Roy and family are living in Ardsley, N.Y.

Frank Fezza, Beta Eta 1960, is developing a math curriculum for Huntington Learning Center with grades three through 12. Next he plans to tackle an SAT/ACT preparation course for the nonprofit educational organization.

Stephen Cafiero, Beta Phi 1980, is living in Belleville, N.J., and working as a director in Human Resources at Verizon Wireless. He is married and has one daughter.

Cecil Ortallono, Beta Rho 1965, is celebrating his 40th year as a brother. He writes, "It seems just like it was yesterday that I became initiated as a brother. I can truly say that those years were some of the happiest I have spent in my lifetime. I graduated from Gannon in 1966, and became employed with a bank in Detroit, Michigan, where I spent three years. My wife and I then moved to Pittsburgh, and I began my career there with the Western Pennsylvania National Bank, becoming Equibank. In 1984, I left the banking business and became an insurance agent with Allstate. In 2002, my wife and I retired and moved to Erie, Pa., which is her hometown. It has been an interesting life, made richer by my being a brother of APD."

Don Augenstein, Beta Omicron 1980, and his wife Shirley have been living in Canfield, Ohio since 1997. He is the owner of a small CPA firm, Donald J. Augenstein, CPA, Inc., which started in 1987 and employs 3-5 people.

Frank J. Leanza, Theta Beta 1945, writes on his 60th anniversary of brotherhood, "In spite of a hip replacement, a lamonectomy, an appendectomy, and arthroscopic knee surgery, I'm really in good health. I retired at 65, and I will be 80 in a couple of months (God willing). My activities are limited since I am a caregiver for my wife Carmen who has been suffering with Alzheimer's Disease. Looking forward to a Theta Beta Reunion this May."

Ryan Bootsma, Beta Xi 1990, is living in Pompton Lakes, N.J. and has been married for five years. He has two sons: Shawn-Ryan who is four and Shane-Anson who is one. He is project manager for E.W. Howell Co. in New York City specializing in high end retail and fast track construction.

Jules Zangrille, Beta Lambda 1950, and a past national president, is living in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., nine months of the year, and three months in Pittsburgh. After retiring to Florida, Jules went back to school and got a Real Estate License. He writes, "I have enjoyed it. My family is growing, a grandson is getting married in July and a granddaughter is getting married in August. I belong to both the Pittsburgh and the South Florida Alumni Clubs."

Anthony P. DeLio, Delta 1950, writes, "I am still engaged full-time in the practice of patent and trademark law in New Haven, Conn. I graduated from Brooklyn Poly in 1953 and then George Washington Law School in 1957. I worked for Bendix Corporation and the Navy Department as a patent trainee. I have been engaged in the private practice of law in the state of Connecticut since 1957 and am listed in Who's Who in the East, Who's Who in America and Who's Who in the World. One of these days I will attend a fraternity outing in the summer time."

Eta Brothers Reunite in Florida

Several Eta Chapter (CCNY) brothers circa 1955 held a small reunion in Jupiter, Florida in mid-March. The brothers and their wives celebrated a wonderful luncheon at the Jupiter Beach Resort and then repaired to a condo next door occupied for the winter by brother Len (Eta '56) and Marie Farano of Smithtown, N.Y. They enjoyed a post-luncheon treat of coffee and pastries in an environment decorated with the fraternity colors of purple and white. Several of the brothers meet regularly during the year in venues that include Long Island, Brooklyn and New Jersey. This event was a special treat, however, because they were joined by John Gerardi (Eta '55) a brother who had left for the wild west over 45 years ago to make his fame and fortune. Now a resident of Upland, Calif. with his lovely wife Gloria, John was visiting family in Tamarack, Florida and was able to join the group. As you can see from the accompanying photograph, John is still sporting a trim muscular body that served him well as a wrestler in high school. Also joining the group was Joe Ascrizzi from Delta Chapter (Brooklyn PolyTech) and his gracious spouse Rosemary. They have recently retired to Stuart, Florida close by to Joe's sister Rosemary and her spouse, brother Joe Panebianco (Eta '55).

The Ascrizzis recently returned from Rome, Italy where they lived for eight years while Joe was managing a number of large engineering projects.

Also joining the group were brother John Barbaro (Eta '55) and wife Louise and brother Jim Tarangelo (Eta '55) and wife Rosemarie from Brooklyn, N.Y. and Moorestown, N.J. respectively, all of whom were visiting Florida at the time.

The event was so successful and so emotional in reliving memories that the brothers decided to reach out to other Eta brothers with whom contact has been lost over the years. They would like to stage a larger reunion in the late fall to celebrate what for most will be fifty years of membership in Alpha Phi Delta.

Towards that end, brother Farano sent emails to Eta brothers of that era with addresses found in the APD 2001 directory suggesting such a reunion. He plans to follow-up with letters for brothers whose email addresses were not readily available. Already the response has been encouraging and the group has heard positive responses from brothers Tony Mattered, Ed Tarangelo, Chuck Caputo, Tom Scali, Ron Bove, Joe Guarnieri, Carlo Venditti and Roland Sarti. We urge all Eta brothers who are interested in renewing their contacts and joining in a reunion later this year to communicate with Len Farano at lfarano@aol.com or by calling him at 631-979-9650.

Public Schools in 1991. I had been with the school system as a teacher and then an executive in the Curriculum Dept for a total of 30 years. Following my retirement, I worked part time for Westat, Inc. as the Maryland Supervisor for the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP), a federal program for the annual testing of 4th, 8th, and 12th graders. After my wife retired, we decided to become snowbirds and spent winters in Florida. Two years ago, we became permanent residents of Clearwater, Fla. and are enjoying life in paradise. Except for last year's hurricanes. But, that's the price you pay for living in paradise!

Robert DeVito, Beta Omega 1985, has stepped in as District Governor again in upstate New York. He is married with a wife (Elizabeth) and son (Alexander), and is a partner and VP of product development for Link Technology Group, a computer software and services organization based in Westchester N.Y.

Evan Lerman, Beta Eta 1990, currently resides in Commack, Long Island with his wife Beth and two sons: Jake, who is five and Caden, who is 19 months. He owns a staffing firm in Midtown that specializes in technology and finance for investment banks, hedge funds and broker dealers.

Mike Smith, Beta Rho 1990, writes, "My wife and I are currently in Tampa, Fla. where I'm a major in the U.S. Army stationed at U.S. Special Operations Command. I'm very fortunate to have had some great experiences over the years but some of my best continue to be my university and fraternity days."

Roger Ross, Psi 1981, was recently found after being lost in fraternity records for many years. He is living in Acworth, Ga. with his wife Autumn. He works for Sun Trust Robinson Humphrey in investment banking.

Ric Aruffo, Beta Delta 1949, Temple, is living in Southern California. He is retired and will soon be celebrating his 54th wedding anniversary with his spouse Patty. He had a technical career sponsored by the good Lord who placed him in many national programs in and for our country. Having a Ph.D. in computer science and mathematics, he was with many companies and universities developing and designing computers and software for national programs—the Apollo moon project with M.I.T., Polaris missile program and submarine program, the Skylab telescope project, rail garrison missile project, global positioning satellite project, spy satellite projects, and many more. His professional career came to a close teaching mathematics at a local community college. During retirement, he has volunteered to teach the use of computers to seniors. He is enjoying that and having the chance to meet other retirees seeking technical knowledge for communication.

Ric is making extensive use of email to keep in touch with siblings, cousins, nieces, nephews and friends who are scattered all over the world. He writes, "I am amazed as to the many relations who have migrated around the world. My grandparents, parents, uncles, and aunts stayed in Philadelphia when they were living. Their progeny, as I have said, became Italian gypsies. In essence the computer has created a small world for all of us."

Anthony Annunziata, Beta Beta 1950, is living in Syracuse and retired from the SUNY College at Oswego and teaches part-time at Lemoyne when not working out at Gold's Gym in Liverpool.

Bob Saglian, Epsilon 1954, and his wife Carol have been married for 44 years. They have three children (Mark, Christopher and Katie). Bob entered a sales career in 1958 and retired from Allstate Insurance Co. in 1995. He had a life-long wish to travel and has visited Maui four times, Pearl Harbor, and the island of Kauai. He has four grandchildren. He is spending retirement with many of his Epsilon brothers.

Dhanraj Persad Jr., Beta Eta 1990, has been married seven years to his wife Kerry. They are living in New Jersey and Dan is working at JP Morgan Chase as a vice president.

Louie Gene Linarelli, Psi 1956

Brother Louie Linarelli passed away November 8, 2004 in San Diego, Ca. as reported in the last issue of The Kleos. After the publishing deadline, The Kleos received the following obituary.

Dr. Linarelli was a father-figure, a gentle old-school physician with a soothing voice who would interrupt a vacation to speak with a patient. He was also an educator, an amateur accordion player and artist, a chef with a flair for Italian cuisine and a collector of decorative crosses. Before his death ended a 20-month battle with pancreatic cancer, he issued a special request for his funeral. He asked his family to wear crosses from his collection from all over the world. He has collected hundreds of them and his funeral was a Mass of the Crosses.

Brother Linarelli was known for his ability to balance his profession with parenthood. A father of six, he was honored twice as one of San Diego's Fathers of the Year. Just last October, he was honored as one of "San Diego's Top Doctors." His medical specialty was in the field of diabetes.

Brother Linarelli was initiated at Psi Chapter in 1956 and graduated from Duquesne University in 1960 with a degree in pharmacy. His nickname in the fraternity was "4 Point Louie" in reference to his grade point average. He was one of the first inductees into Duquesne's Hall of Fame.

After graduation, he enrolled in medical school at the University of Pittsburgh and graduated in 1964. In 1966, during a pediatric internship at Johns Hopkins Hospital, he teamed with two associates in describing a condition that came to be known as Kenny-Linarelli or Kenny-Caffey syndrome which is characterized by dwarfism and a cortical thickening of tubular bones.

After settling in Pittsburgh to practice medicine, he accepted a position to move to San Diego in 1975. He settled in there to direct a pediatric teaching program at Mercy Hospital until 1980. The next year, he established a private practice.

served with the Marine Corp. and had been retired since 1981.

Dr. Arnold Del Greco, Theta Beta 1930, passed away this past winter. He was living in Charlottesville, Va. and was featured in a Kleos picture last summer.

Joseph F. Giacalone, passed away this spring. He was a lawyer in Staten Island, a member of the fraternity for over 50 years, and inducted at Beta Beta Chapter at Manhattan College in 1951.

Dr. Arnold Armando Del Greco, Theta Beta 1929, is surrounded by seven of his nine great-grandchildren on his 95th birthday in October 2003.

THE LAST WORD

BY JOHN J. RUSSO, KLEOS EDITOR

John Russo, Psi 1972

As Kleos editor, I may get a chance to experience more fraternalism than most of our brothers. But what a fraternal bond we have! I have been a brother for 33 years and have been blessed to experience a strong bond of fraternalism with brothers from all around the country. Our fraternity bond truly is national.

In the past Kleos issue, I corresponded via email with several brothers serving in Iraq. I did not know any of the brothers personally, but their correspondence was gracious and warm amidst the circumstances of being in a war-torn country. I pray for their safe return and thank them for their service to our country as well as being our brothers.

We had several stories in the last Kleos from brothers who were new contributors for us. Al Parisi lives in California and is a cancer survivor (for over ten years as he is proud to tell anyone). I was made aware of Al as a newly published author through brothers in New York. I soon wrote to him and asked him if he could contribute an article for me in The Kleos. He never flinched and came right back with an offer to help. I have never met Al, but he has been a constant email correspondent to me for months now.

The cover story of the winter Kleos issue was about brothers from our dormant chapter at Epsilon (SUNY Buffalo), a group long since out of communication with national. Brother Bob Saglian contacted me by sending a picture of a gathering of Epsilon alumni for possible inclusion in the Kleos. I wrote back asking him if he could expound upon the picture, and he came back with a full blown story which I gave front page status. After the Kleos was published, Brother Saglian called me to express his thanks for featuring his article. He explained that he had been diagnosed with Alzheimer's disease three years ago and was using a new drug that was stabilizing the disease. He was happy to be able to contribute to the fraternity. I also have never met Bob Saglian, but he too has emailed numerous times and shares a bond of fraternalism with me in the electronic world.

In February, I attended Psi Chapter's Valentine's Ball at Duquesne University which is an annual occasion for me. This year I met an older alumnus for the first time. Brother Ron Scharbo was seated at the same table as me for dinner. We shared a nice conversation. I learned he was from Atlanta, which I would be visiting on business in a month. He asked me to look him up. When I did, he hosted me for dinner in a city that was new for me. I had met Ron only the one time, yet we were like any other long lost brothers and enjoyed a three-hour dinner conversation.

In April, I attended the National Council Meeting in Philadelphia. Brother Sam Galasso, Beta Delta 1960, and his wife Rita graciously hosted Paul Fabrizio and me at their home. Sam is over ten years my senior and lives 250 miles from me. We became acquainted through fraternal events. Many years ago.

Some of my best fraternity experiences have come outside my home base of Pittsburgh (where I have dozens of close brothers). I feel equally at ease with alumni club brothers in Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Long Island, New Jersey and Youngstown and many points between and afar.

Our fraternity transcends chapters and years. It doesn't seem to matter. I have found that not just my classmates are my best brothers. Many others have joined an expanding circle of best brothers for me. I hope that many of you have also found that Alpha Phi Delta has a strong fraternal bond. You might not be able to explain it, but you can certainly share and experience it.
